Profile

I have complemented my academic education with practical certifications in key areas. I possess strong cloud knowledge that enables me to understand and develop solutions based on AWS cloud architectures. My practical experience is highlighted by the development of an e-commerce project for the fruit and vegetable market, using technologies such as React, Node.js, Express, and MongoDB. This project is designed to boost open-air markets in Chile.

Furthermore, I am certified in Agile Scrum methodologies, which equips me to effectively collaborate in agile team environments. My proactivity, coupled with a solid foundation in collaborative development practices, positions me as a versatile and adaptable candidate in the field of technology.
